

It is a wondrous time in the depths of a gorgeous thick forest, where the grasses are soft and spongy and where clumps of moss grow on the trees and sparkle with moisture. A beautiful stream runs along one side where the water trickles over the quartz and crystal and is surrounded by wild strawberries. This is a wonderful, magical fairyland filled with colorful, beautiful, magical and happy fairies. There are both male and female fairies, smallish in nature with very beautiful hair. Some of the fairies have sparkly, transparent wings which reflect all the colors of the rainbow when the sun is out, while others have glittery silver wings. Their wings allow them to fly alongside each other with the help of pixie dust, a magical dust which assists fairies to fly.

These fairies can give both good luck, bad luck and love to their human believers who are in love, travelling or in need of luck. It all depends on how much you believe. The fairies' behavior is ruled by a moral fairy code, which allows them to work hard and live together in peace, love and happiness.
